

Learn the response protocols for disengagement and how to mitigate liability.

SAVAGE
TRAINING GROUP

Response to the Non-Criminal Barricade: Disengagement & Special Relationships®

February 20, 2024
Orlando, FL

Orlando Police Training Facility
100 George DeSalvia Way, Orlando, FL 32807

Hosted by the Orlando Police Department

Instructor: Scott Savage, Santa Clara Police Department (CA) (ret.)
and Founder, Savage Training Group

$299/student

This course teaches law enforcement officers and supervisors the best way to respond to mentally ill persons who are armed, barricaded, and in crisis. You'll leave the course with an understanding of modern disengagement and re-engagement tactics, the specific ways to avoid liability, and a collection of the best non-criminal barricade policies from police agencies all around the country.

Each student will receive:

- ✔ A simple three-page decision making cheat sheet to help guide your decision making regarding when to engage, disengage and re-engage.
- ✔ A collection of non-criminal barricade policies from progressive police agencies around the U.S.
- ✔ The specific laws for your state that you need to know to limit liability. That's right, each course is customized for the state we're presenting it in.

This course breaks down the relevant laws that govern liability, "special relationships", and the "public duty doctrine". You will walk away with modern tactics your agency can use to both limit liability and prevent violent confrontations.

Your instructor, Scott Savage, is a recognized expert in the response to non-criminal barricades. Scott is an experienced law enforcement officer who has not only commanded these types of incidents in the field, but also trains officers throughout the country how to do the same. His study of the subject has included gathering best practices from agencies across the United States. Scott is a dynamic speaker who is passionate about bringing this important information to the law enforcement community.

Space is limited so register today at SavageTrainingGroup.com

